WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCT. 31.

Legislative Summary.

In the Senate, in the morning, leave of abscense was granted to Senators Head and Dean on account of sickness in their families. Senate bill to repeal the Homestead Law of last session was returned to the Senate by Mr. Bowles, with a bill in lieu, repealing only the 9th section of said law, which requires persons who propose to avail themselves of the benefit of this act to register such intention-the only safeguard in the law to prevent fraud upon creditors. After some discussion, in which Mr. Bowles supported the amendment, and Messrs. Turney, Hall and Caldwell opposed it, a motion to lay the amendment on the table having failed by a vote of 10 to 13, the bill and amendment were referred to the Judiciary Committee, On motion of Mr. Carter, the special orders of the day, the bills to change the manner of electing the Keeper of the Penitentiary, and providing for the election of Commissioner of Roads by the Legislature, were postponed until Friday next, on account of the absence of two members on the democratic side, Messrs, Head and Dean, In the evening, bills were introduced by Mr.

Stokes, to exempt Masonic, Odd Fellows and Temperance Lodges from taxation; by Mr. Johnson, to amend the charter of the Hyde Ferry Turnpike Company; to amend the charter of the Edgefield and Kentucky Railroad Company; by Mr. Whitthorne, to facilitate the settlement of estates, &c., for the benefit of mechanics, &c.; by Mr. Cheatham, to amend an act passed 11th February, 1852, ch. 152, entitled an act to establish a system of Internal Improvements in this State. Senate bill to amend the act entitled " An Act to declare the powers of County Courts in the administration of estates in certain particulars, passed February 26th, 1852," was passed on its third reading. Senate bill to amend the charter of the Nashville and North-western Railroad, and to transfer a portion of its State aid to the Mobile and Chio Road, was read the third time, and a discussion arose upon its merits .-Mr. Hall moved to strike out the sixth section, which gives $50,000 State aid to bridge the Forked Deer river, at two separate points, which motion was tabled and the bill passed

In the House, in the morning, Mr. Cox presented a petition from sundry citizens of Davidson, praying the revival of the act of 1843, name be changed; Mr. Dunnington also preintroduced: by Mr. Brazelton, to "locate" the "critter" and increase the school fund; and by Mr. Algee, to compel all free person of color in the State to emigrate to Liberia or elsewhere beyond the limits of this State; besides two local bills. Mr. Dewitt introduced a resolution providing for an adjournment of the Legislature on the 24th of December, which, after a protracted debate, was adopted, were introduced, of a more or less important regular report. Among the resolutions introresolution lies over. The only bill of a general character passed on its third reading, was one to regulate the pay of jurous, giving to tales jarors the same pay per diem ($1.50) as those of the regular panel.

The Commissioners of the State Capitol yes terday caused to be placed upon the desks of the members of the Legislature a beautiful lithograph of the State Capitol and grounds, as they will be when entirely finished. The whole presents a view of the noblest edifice in the country, an honor to Tennessee, and worthy of a short pilgrimage to see.

the beauties of the building can be fully brought out. The grounds must be extended and improved-an indispensable requisitea liberal appropriation for this purpose. The either side, which, if they should be opened, which these streets will naturally pass should belong to the State, should be graded and beautified, and the whole will then present a combination of beauty and grandeur unexcelled by any similar edifice in the country.

We copy the following from the Louisville Journal by request: Twilight Musings. When the twilight shades are gathering, With their ever-changing bues, O'er the mountain tops and valleys, Then I love to sit and muse, Building many a fairy palace In the gold and crimson clouds-

Till the darkness, like a mantle, All their glorious beauty shrouds. Then the evening star comes softly From her radiant home of light, Like an angel pure and holy, Watching o'er the world by night;
And the crescent moon is gliding

Like a pearly bark on high, With the stars like jewels gleaming In her pathway through the sky. O, how quiet, calm and holy, Is this solemn hour to me.

With its wondrous star-light splendor, Breathing of eternity; And the night-breeze gently sighing. With the silvery tinkling rills, And the echoes faint replying, All the air with music fills,

Then, my soul, at last awakened From thy leaden trance of woe, Strike thy harp, long since forsaken, Bid its sweetest number flow : And perchance some heart may quiver With a thrill of strange delight. As its tones are softly floating

O'er the starry waves of night-Swelling upward like the murmurs Of some tranquil summer sea, When its dimpled waves are breaking In their monraful melody; For I feel that ever round me Angel forms with snowy wings Guide my trembling wayward fingers As they touch the quivering strings.
